

DEATH OF DR. MILLER.—The Rev. Samuel Miller, formerly a preacher in this city, but for a long while past Professor of Ecclesiastical History in the Theological Seminary at Princeton, died at that place about eleven o'clock on Monday night. He was in the eighty-first year of his age, having for the greater part of his life enjoyed the most uninterrupted and vigorous health.

Dr. Miller was born at Dover, in the state of Delaware, was graduated by the University of Pennsylvania, studied theology under Dr. Nesbit, of Carlisle, and for many years was pastor of the United Presbyterian Church of this city. In the year 1813 he removed to Princeton, where he has since resided. He was the author of several books of merit, chiefly relating to the doctrine and discipline of his church; an accomplished and impressive pulpit orator, and a gentleman of remarkable urbanity and uprightness.
