THE TROUBLENS JAPAN.—The last advices from Japan. July 25, represents that all the foreign powers were at war with the Prince of Negato. This independents of the Tysona's policy, freed upon American, French, British and Dutch ships. The Dutch, being an armed vessel, returned the first, but get pretty well people of from the Japanese batteries. The U. S. frigate assaulted the batteries and sunk two of the Prince's vessels, as has been formerly stated. The French sent two war steemers to finish the job, but not liking the looks of the batteries, except landing and taking an insignificant redoubt, accomplished, othing. The British, who had a previous quarred with the Prince of Suturma, have done still worse in their assault, for they have been beaten off by the Japanese. With the exception of the British quarred with the Prince of Inco of Negato, who has the country only on one side of the channel, if the Prince of he other side joins him, there will be no possibility for vessels to past through, for the batteries are strong works and the channel narrow. The Yedo or Tyrong government disavows these acts of hostility and gave information of them to the American commander.
